

Develop future-focused leaders with Sophia's IT and computer science courses

Help your employees grow their careers with a collection of courses from Sophia

How Sophia works for you

Offer college-level courses

We believe higher ed should be accessible to all. We offer a diverse catalog of 60+ courses that empower learners to develop their skills on their timeline. Sophia's self-paced format allows students to complete their gen ed courses in one third of the time compared with traditional semester courses.*

Tailor learning paths

We identify your goals and build custom learning programs to help your employees excel in their career journeys.

Our computer science and IT courses

- Introduction to Information Technology
- Introduction to Java Programming
- Introduction to Networking
- Introduction to Python Programming
- Introduction to Relational Databases
- Introduction to Web Development

*Assumes 15-week semester. Average length for learner course completion is 28 days.

Why Sophia

Recruit new talent

Entice new employees by providing an education benefit that can help team members grow their knowledge and consider pursuing further higher ed goals.

Harness employee strengths

Keep team members engaged and developing new skills through cost-effective courses.

Launch on your timeline

Sophia is a turnkey solution that requires no integration into any of your business' platforms.

Choose from flexible pricing tiers

We align our partnership pricing options with your organization's learning and development goals.

Connect with our Partnership Development Team to learn more:

newpartnerships@sophia.org