SOPHIA Learning

COMM1010: Communication at Work (3 semester credits)

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course is designed to prepare students for successful workplace communication by providing a background on its components and methods, then exploring oral and written forms in depth. Students will practice composing professional written communication for a specific purpose and audience. Additionally, students will learn about tools for workplace collaboration and efficiency, and how to determine the best meeting and productivity tools for a particular professional context.

Course Effective Dates: November 2020 - Present

Prerequisite(s): No prerequisites

Length of course: This is a self-paced course. Students have 60 days with an additional 30-day extension (if needed) to complete the course.

ACE CREDIT® Recommendation: In the lower-division baccalaureate/associate degree category, 3 semester hours in introduction to communications (11/20).

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon completion of the course, the student will be able to:

- 1. Identify the various purposes, uses, and stages of communication.
- 2. Compare and contrast the different methods of communication.
- 3. Align tone and language to a specific audience.
- 4. Recognize the key elements of oral communication.
- 5. Identify appropriate scopes, topics, and resources for professional presentations.
- 6. Examine strategies for improving professional presentations.
- 7. Recognize the key elements of written communication.
- 8. Identify tone, audience, purpose, and structure in professional writing.
- 9. Deliver a coherent and professional written message using an appropriate medium.
- 10. Recognize the various group dynamics that can occur within an organization.
- 11. Identify methods of problem-solving and goal-setting in professional group settings.
- 12. Select the appropriate tools for scheduling and communicating time-related tasks.

OUTLINE OF MAJOR CONTENT AREAS

- What Is Communication and Why Is It Important?
- Communication Models
- Communication in Context

- Oral vs. Written Communication
- Principles of Verbal and Nonverbal Communication
- Self Understanding in Communication
- Combating Bias
- The Rhetorical Situation
- Informative and Persuasive Presentations
- Defining Your Purpose, Audience, and Scope
- Finding and Evaluating Resources
- Structuring Your Presentation
- Integrating Transitions into Speeches
- Speaking Ethically and Avoiding Fallacies
- Qualities of Good Writing
- Style in Written Communication
- Written Reports
- Text and Email Etiquette
- General Areas of Revision
- Formatting, Spelling, Punctuation, and Grammar
- Proofreading and Evaluation
- Group Member Roles
- Conflict in the Work Environment
- Approaching Problems and Finding Solutions as a Group
- Teamwork and Leadership
- Business and Professional Meetings
- Tools for Audio and Visual Communication
- Systems for Efficiency and Effectiveness
- Choosing the Right Tools for Your Needs

GRADING: This is a pass/fail course. Students are required to complete all 12 formative and 4 summative assessments with an overall course average of 70% or better.